Hello, everyone! My name is Jack. I like parrots best. I raised two little parrots last year. And now they grow bigger and bigger. One of the parrots is green and yellow. Its name is Lucy. The other one is blue and white. Its name is Louis. Both of them can sing. They usually stay at their comfortable house. Sometimes, they play games with me. They have a pair of beautiful wings. So they can fly freely and play with other birds. Lucy and Louis are both my good friends. I think we will get on well with each other. I like parrots best!

I like dogs best. I have a dog whose name is Jenny. She is a white dog. She is very cute and clever. She has two short ears, two big eyes and a short tail. I usually play with Jenny. Once I lost a glove, I told Jenny to smell the other glove. Jenny found it in a minute. Once again. I took Jenny to play in the park.

I threw the flying saucer out. Jenny jumped and snapped. And then, she wagged her tail to me. I love my Jenny. The dogs are my favourite animals.

My favourite animal is cats. I have a cat. Its name is White, because it is a white cat. One of his eyes is blue and the other is yellow. White is very naughty. It always plays hide-and-seek with me. White likes playing balls very much. So I bought it a toy ball as a birthday gift last year. He was very happy. From then on, White has meals with the toy ball, plays games with the toy ball, and even sleeps with it. White is so cute. I love him very much.

Animals are people's best friends. My favourite animal is pandas. They have lived for several million years on the earth. When I see them, I always feel exhilarating, because they're so attractive.

As we all know, the panda is a lovely and rare animal that it is one of the National first-class protected animals. In addition, it is a symbol of China as well. Pandas are cooperative, group-living species, which work together to get over difficulties. I think they are good at teamwork, because they just depend on themselves.

At the zoo, people can see pandas eat bamboos and play with their family members. And in the wild, they have to find food on their own.

Sometimes, we Chinese send them into other countries as the gift for friendship, so that people all over the world can watch such cute animals all year around.

In conclusion, pandas have intelligent skills while they love each other, and that's why I like them best.

What will pop out of your head if you think of a slow-motion animal? A snail? A turtle? Or maybe a sloth (树懒)!

Sloths are my favourite animals. I got the chance to know the species in a movie called "Zootopia". A sloth called "Lightning" moved so slowly that it made me laugh so many times. Later, I learned that sloths are a kind of tree-dwelling mammal noted for its slowness of movement. Living in lowland tropical forests, they spend most of their lives hanging upside down in the trees. With their relatively small bodies, round heads, and large eyes surrounded by dark marks, their cuteness is just beyond words.

All in all, I like them best because of their adorable appearance and their leisurely lifestyle. It would be great to see them with my own eyes someday!

Dogs are considered as our best friends because they can help us in many different ways. Therefore, many people like dogs best. So do I.

Nowadays, some of the dogs are trained to help us in our lives. For example, my grandpa is blind but he can go anywhere with the help of his guide dog Ben. They can also make our lives enjoyable. They play with us and bring us a lot of fun. What's more, some other clever dogs can help the police make our city a safe place.

Dogs do a lot for us, so we should be kind to them and take care of them with love instead of leaving them in the street. If we don't look after them well, we will lose our best friends.
